

MONDAYS

with Mike

MONDAYS

Choices winners make every day

If what we did today didn't turn out as we'd hoped, tomorrow is a new opportunity to do it differently or to do nothing at all. We all have that choice. Here are some choices winners make every day. Are we in this winner's circle?

- They work with and spend time with the right people. The most ordinary ideas and projects can be made extraordinary by discussing them and doing them with the right people.
- They maintain a positive attitude. Happiness always comes from within, and it's found in the present moment by making peace with the past and looking forward to the future.
- They endure the pain. Maybe it's going to hurt because it matters, and it expands your horizons.
- They live through love. Every human thought, word or deed is based on fear or love. Fear is the energy that contracts, closes down, draws in, hides, hoards, and harms. Love is the energy that expands, opens up, sends out, reveals, shares, and heals.
- They accept 100% responsibility for their current situation. They own it, lean into it, and make it part of their next layer of work.
- They don't lose themselves in the commotion. There are two things you shouldn't waste your time on: things that don't matter and people who think you don't matter. Stay true to your path and keep moving forward.

Let's all make winning plays this week in all that we do!

Have a great week!